About the Council for Professional Recognition

Mission of the Council

The Council for Professional Recognition promotes improved performance and recognition of professionals in the early childhood education of children ages 0 to 5 years old.

Vision of the Council

The Council works to ensure that all professional early childhood educators and caregivers meet the developmental, emotional, and educational needs of our nation's youngest children.

History of the CDA Credential

In the early 1970s, a group of innovative early childhood educators gathered together to think about how to improve the quality of early care and education. The concept for the CDA Credential was born out of those meetings and was initially funded by what was then called the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Administration on Children, Youth, and Families (ACYF). After several years of development, the first CDA was awarded in 1975.

In 1985, ACYF entered into a cooperative agreement with the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC) for the purpose of creating a separate nonprofit organization to administer the CDA Credential. That organization, the Council for Professional Recognition, began administering the CDA on September 1, 1985.

Over 320,000 CDA credentials have been awarded to date, with approximately 18,000 early childhood professionals becoming new CDAs annually.

Why the CDA is the "Best 1st Step"

Why CDA

- The CDA brings vision and unity to the field about what professionals who work with young children should know and be able to do effectively in any setting – Center-Based Preschool, Infant & Toddler, Family Child Care and Home Visitor.
- The CDA is the only portable, reciprocal, competency-based, national credential recognized in all 50 states, territories, District of Columbia, community colleges and the United States military.
- 3. The CDA credentialing system is based on the knowledge of the nation's leading scholars in early care and learning. Utilizing multiple sources of evidence, the CDA national credentialing system is the only comprehensive system of its kind that recognizes the essential competencies needed by entry-level and all early childhood professionals.
- 4. The CDA is the only credit-bearing national credential that articulates to Associate degrees in most community college systems across the nation.
- 5. The CDA is the only national, multi-language credentialing system that assesses educators in the language of their daily work.
- 6. The CDA has revolutionized entry-level credentialing once again! With the launch of CDA 2.0 in June 2013, the Council has streamlined and strengthened the process, making it even more valuable as a professional development experience.

The Child Development Associate CDA Credential™

The Child Development Associate (CDA) National Credentialing Program[™] is the unique credentialing process, administered by the Council for Professional Recognition, which results in the award of the CDA Credential. The Program uses a specific set of time-tested, research-based tools that follow the CDA Competency Standards to determine early childhood teacher competency, based on multiple sources of evidence.

The CDA Competency Standards are the core of the CDA program. Candidates seeking to earn the CDA Credential are assessed based upon the CDA Competency Standards. These national standards are the criteria used to evaluate an early care and learning professional's performance with children, families, colleagues and their community.

The six Competency Goals establish the framework and the Standards are defined in more detail in our 13 Functional Areas. The Functional Areas describe the major tasks or functions early care professional must complete in order to carry out the Competency Standards.

The Council offers 4 different types of the CDA Credential listed below. Every Credential is also available with Bilingual specialization.

QRIS & CDA Defining and Advancing Quality for Early Care and Education Professionals

QRIS and CDA: SHARED STRATEGIES

Typically, QRIS systems include five common elements: (1) standards, (2) accountability measures, (3) provider support, (4) financial incentives, and (5) parent/consumer education efforts. Although many States engage in quality initiatives touching on one or more of these areas. The CDA includes all five of these elements.

CDA Professional Development Specialist System

The CDA Professional Development (PD) Specialist system involves a new role that supports Verification Visits with Candidates. During the visit the PD Specialist use the Council's R.O.R. Model[™] to assess competency and support their growing skills as they move through the CDA National Credentialing Program[®]. The R.O.R. Model[™] was designed for the PD Specialist to use as a tool to help develop the ECE expertise needed to facilitate each Candidate's self-reflection and professional growth.

To learn more about the PD Specialist please visit the Council website at www.cdacouncil.org/cda-pd-specialists
